DESCRIPTION OF PETROLEUM PRODUCTS

Generally, the countries of the world have two major differences. This difference is interpreted based on the supply of petroleum oil.

We all know how important it is requirements of this petroleum oil as basic materials and main uses as a source of energy, the source of the materials of all industries and their uses are in almost every aspect of human life.

All air, land and sea vehicles can move from petroleum products such as gasoline, diesel, Jet Fuel and Gasoline. Similarly, all machinery used for the industry also needs petroleum fuel.

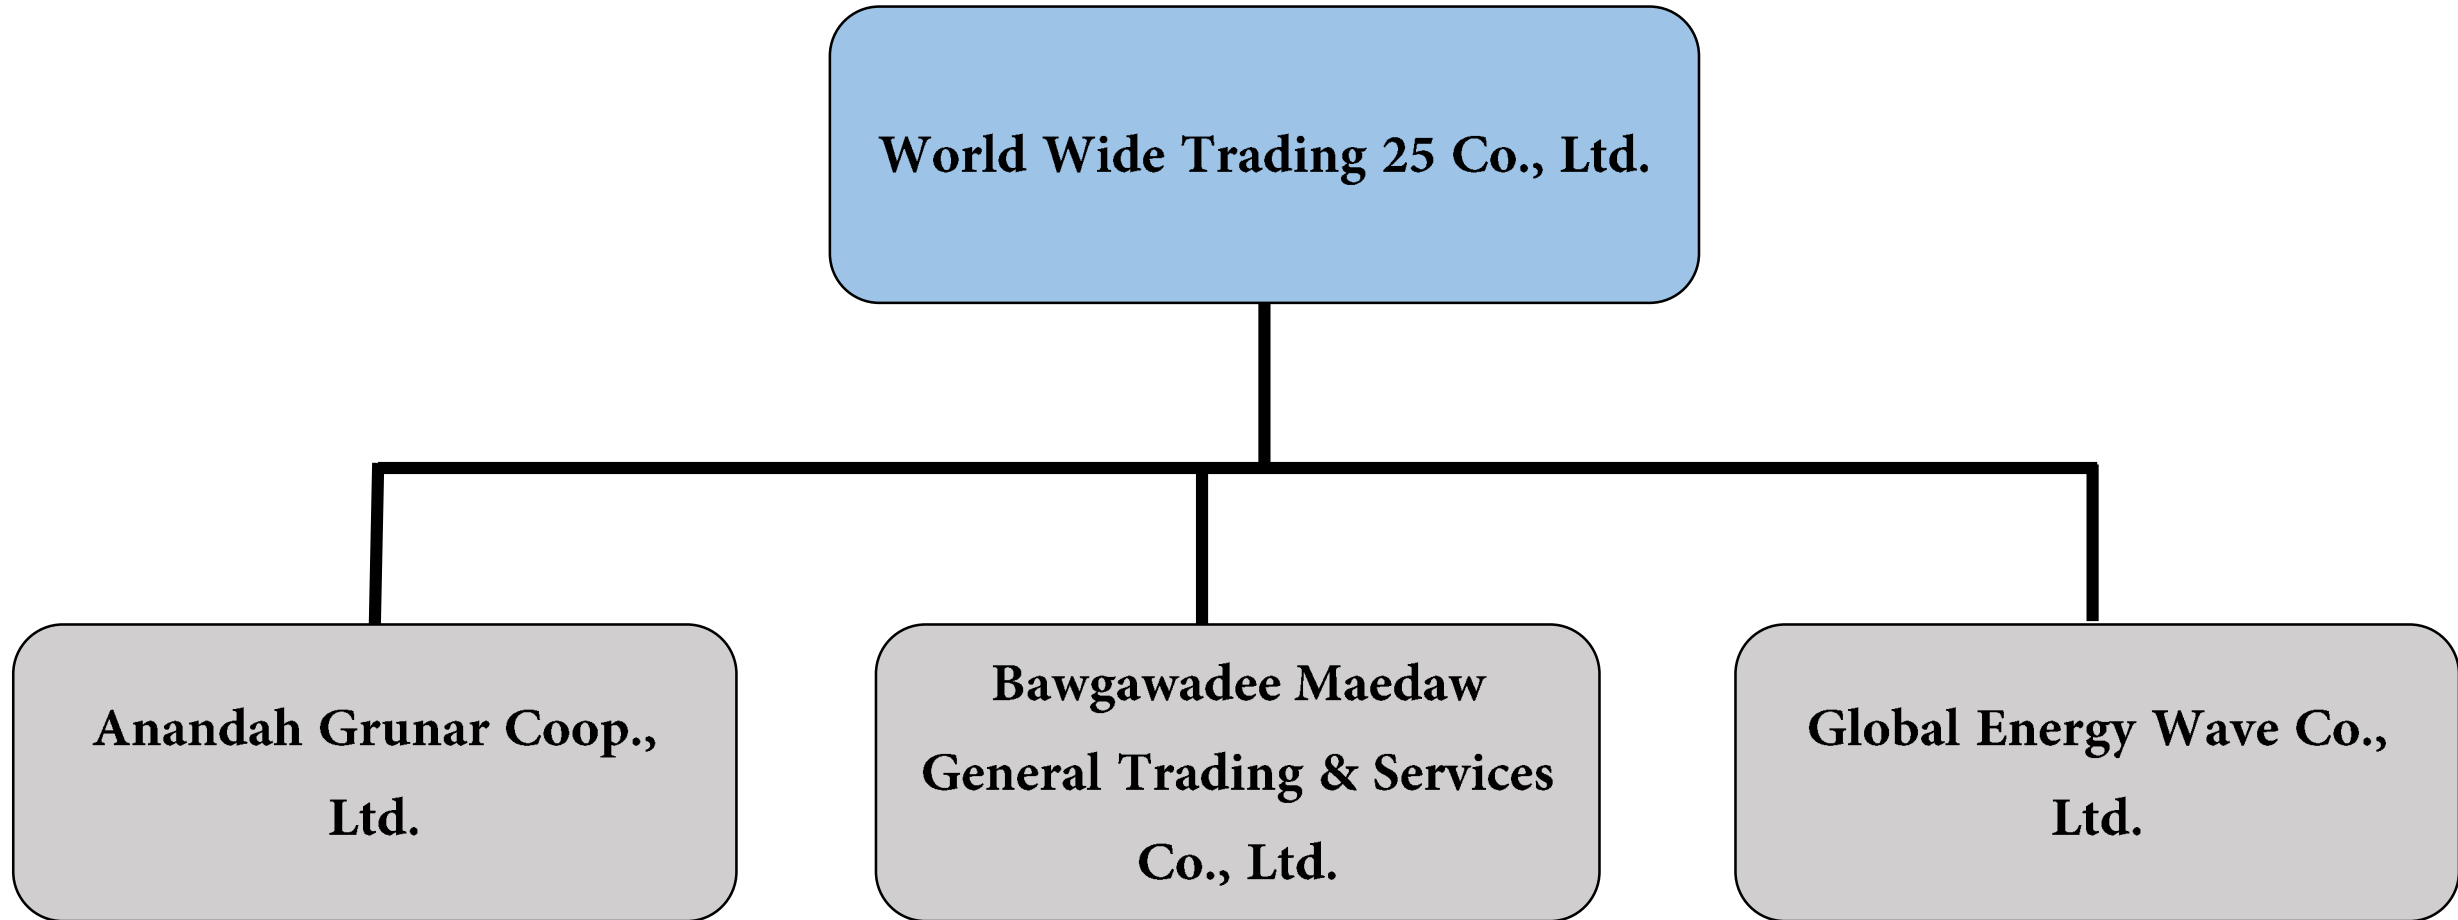

To summarize the explanation, Petroleum oil is one of the most widely traded commodities in demand.

Fluctuations in oil prices worldwide can have a huge impact on the health of the country's economy, whether they are oil producers or oil consumers.

Any rise or fall in oil prices can affect the economy of oil production. However, oil importing countries are more prone to fluctuations in oil prices because oil is priced and sold in Dollar Currencies. Although attempts are made to move to a more sustainable fuel source, petroleum oil is still in high demand and storage is limited.
